Dr. George J. Bitar is a trilingual Board-Certified plastic surgeon focusing on aesthetic cosmetic surgery and medically directed skin care serving the D.C. community and international patients. He specializes in advanced cosmetic surgery for facial rejuvenation and body contouring and operates at Fairfax INOVA Hospital. Winner of the prestigious plastic surgery chairman's research award, he has co-authored articles on the techniques and safety of plastic surgery in peer-reviewed journals. Dr. Bitar has been a featured guest on radio, TV, and a visiting professor of plastic surgery at UVA. Uniquely trained by many of today's modern masters of cosmetic surgery in Rio de Janeiro, Beverly Hills, Paris, and New York, Dr. Bitar has assimilated the latest techniques, and offers each patient an individualized confidential treatment plan. After his residency, he completed an advanced aesthetic surgery fellowship at the Charlotte Plastic Surgery Center, as well as an international fellowship in advanced cosmetic surgery.

Plastic Surgery

Plastic surgeons specialize in restoring tissue damage by injury, birth defects, or other causes and perform cosmetic surgery to enhance appearance.
